

PREPARE YOUR VEHICLE FOR SHIPMENT

The physical WEIGHT of your vehicle is an important factor for transport. The Department of Transportation regulations require that auto transporters stop at all weight scales and comply with federal highway weight restrictions. Approximately 100 pounds of additional weight in the trunk only of the vehicle is permitted and ABSOLUTELY NOTHING in the back seat of the vehicle. An overweight and/or overloaded vehicle may be refused. REMOVE ALL ez-pass transponders.

DO NOT PACK important documents, medications, alcohol, plants, animals, or contraband in your vehicle. Personal items are packed at your own risk and are covered by your insurance.

TERMINALS – Terminal to terminal delivery is always the least expensive and fastest method of transportation. Our satellite terminals located in New Jersey, Long Island, and Connecticut enable our customers to have a choice in transportation options. Our Florida terminals offer home delivery to most cities.

Airport service is available in select cities. Home pickup and delivery is done by either valet drivers or flatbeds.

DELIVERY TIMES – Delivery dates are dependent upon favorable weather and road conditions and usually range between 4-7 days to Florida. Delivery of northbound Florida vehicles in the spring can range between 5-9 days. Delivery dates cannot be guaranteed, but we make a good faith effort to move the vehicle as promptly as possible in accordance with the Shipper's instructions.

INSURANCE – Carrier cargo and liability insurance is in effect while the vehicle is on the transport truck. Registration and proof of insurance should be kept in the vehicles.

FUEL – Deliver your vehicle to our terminal with ¼ tank of gas or less. For home pick-up/delivery customers, ½ tank of gas (no more) is required.

KEYS – All keys are required - ignition, door and trunk keys!
Mercedes Benz owners - Please do not remove valet key from the remote.
